It is not our estimate of the good people of Springfield that they frown upon an enterprise because some of the proprietors are strangers. We know that the city desires and invites capital and energy into her midst and bids them good speed. Any one engaged in creating a different sentiment is an enemy to the best interests of our people. There are such in our midst who claim to be educators of the people. Look out for them.

Justifiably Angry.
A gay and festive young man, of the drummer persuasion, was leisurely lunching at the Arcade counter yesterday, thinking of matters past, present and future, little dreaming of the dilemma into which he was allowing himself to be thrust. While thus musing and pondering, the train, unheeded by him, moved off in the direction of Columbus, bearing his baggage and other earthly possessions. He finally awoke to a realization of the situation, exhausted his vocabulary of epithets, and then called upon the bystanders to assist him in doing the subject justice.

Incendiary Fire.
A few minutes before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department was called out by an alarm from box 46, on the corner of Yellow Springs and Liberty streets. The fire was at the old toll-gate on the Yellow Springs pike about a mile south of town. The house was unoccupied and it is supposed that the fire was of incendiary origin. The rear part of the house and a portion of the roof burned before the department arrived when it was soon extinguished.

A COCK FIGHT IN A BARN.

A Little Sport in the Pit—Ahead of the "Coppers" This Time.

(From Morning Edition.)

Last Tuesday evening a chicken fight occurred in a certain barn, about two miles south of town, on the Yellow Springs pike.

The sports who got up the fight managed things so well that the "coppers" knew nothing at all about it. About twenty lovers of the "pit" were present, and much money changed hands. Arrangements had been made beforehand with the proprietor of the barn to have things in readiness for that night, as their coming was not looked for by that personage.

The first cocks were layed on the floor at half past seven. The fight was between two grey birds, each weighing five pounds, seven ounces. The stake up was for $25 a side. This fight lasted for thirteen minutes and was one of the hardest fought battles ever seen.

The second match was between an Irish grey and a white pile, each weighing five pounds and nine ounces. The stake put up on this match was the same as the above, $25 per side. This battle was about as severe as the last one, the white pile being killed in eleven minutes. The third and last fight was what is known among sporting men as a "shake" fight.

The chickens are put in separate bags, and at a given signal are let out of the bag into the pit. The weight of the birds is no object. One of the cocks was an Irish Belstar and the other a Dominie. This was the shortest fight of the evening, lasting only seven minutes. The stake put up was for $50 a side. Several more cocks were taken out, but owing to the scarcity of money in the crowd no more matches could be made.

Among the crowd were noticed some highly respectable young men in town, who recklessly staked their money on the different matches, some winning, some losing. Coming home a race was started between two of the drivers, and when near the fair grounds one of the buggies was upset, but owing to the extreme gentleness of the horse no damage was done beyond the soiling of the clothes of the occupants of the rig.

THE GERMAN CELEBRATION.
Observance of the Great German Anniversary.

(From Morning Edition.)

The anniversary of the fall of Sedan was observed in Springfield by a grand picnic at Spencer's Grove, under the auspices of the German Veteran Society. This society is composed of men who fought in the Franco-German war of 1870.

The picnic was preceded by a grand parade of the German societies and of the German residents of the city, headed by a brass band. At the grove Capt. Kinderman, one of the veterans, delivered an oration in which he recounted the events of the war.

All the local German societies were represented, and the day was passed pleasantly in the exchange of incidents of this famous event of German history. The Springfield Mannerchor furnished the music for the occasion.

The battle of Sedan was fought on the 1st of September, 1870. The French emperor had ordered Gen. MacMahon to march to the Belgian frontier to take the Prussians on the flank, and to relieve Bazaine at Metz. The northward movement ended speedily in the great catastrophe of Sedan. On the 21st the emperor, with an army of more than 80,000 men, was the prisoner of war of the king of Prussia.

A dispatch from Berlin says: The fifteenth anniversary of the German victory at Sedan, was celebrated here today by a grand military display. The emperor and empress drove ahead of the troops in the procession.

THE HOWLWILLE WRECK.
Engineer Bob Haylor Thought to be Injured.

(From Morning Edition.)

Engineer Bob Haylor, who was so badly injured in the Howlville wreck on the I. B. & W. railroad, Wednesday, is lying at the St. James hotel in a very critical condition. The nature of his injuries cannot, as yet, be determined, but it is believed that he is injured internally. A reporter of the Gleaner-Republic called at his room at the hotel last night, but the patient was suffering so that he was unable to talk.

The room was crowded with railroad men who had called to tender their sympathy. Engineer Haylor is very popular on the road and at Sandusky, where he lives. He was a member of the city council of that city for a long while. He was found, after the wreck, in the debris under the engine by brakeman Rud Wilson and baggage-master Missig, who dragged him out. Had he fallen six inches to either side of the place where he was found he must certainly have been killed.

Fireman E. S. Taylor sustained injuries to his left leg, which are not considered of a serious character.

The citizens of Howlville rendered all the assistance in their power to the unfortunate men, and they are now receiving every attention at the hands of their friends.

A New Coal Firm.
Mr. E. N. Jacobs, who is quite extensively known throughout the surrounding country as a successful farmer and property owner, has purchased the coal business of a South Limestone street firm, and will hereafter make the handling of coal in large and small quantities his business. J. G. Jacobs, of the Springfield Manufacturing Co., has associated himself as a partner in the new concern, which will be known as E. N. Jacobs & Co. As both the gentlemen are a broad acquaintance, they will, without doubt, enjoy a most lucrative trade. Their office will be at 107 South Limestone street.

Foraker Club Meeting.
The Foraker club held a meeting at their hall, last night, at which routine business of the club was transacted. Arrangements were made for the grand rally at the wigwam tonight, which is to be under the auspices of the club. The members of the club are expected to attend at the hall tonight at seven o'clock to get their badges. From the hall they will march in a body to the wigwam where addresses will be delivered by Rev. B. W. Arnett, of Wilberforce, Hon. T. J. Pringle, George C. Rawlins and others.

A Successful Year.
Before departing for the conference Rev. Henry Tuckley, pastor of St. Paul, reported the membership of the church 580; current expenses $6,323; unpaid indebtedness $4,700. He has had a very successful year, and goes to conference with the confidence and love of every member of his congregation. At the last meeting of the official board there were thirty-four present, and they voted unanimously in favor of asking conference to return him.

William Myers, who was injured by Frank Wagner, was reported last night as suffering from the wound, which is still bleeding.
